The other plague we can't escape

Greetings,

As I write this, the world is closing out its second year of Covid. In round numbers there have been about 5,350,000 deaths worldwide with about 800,000 of them hitting here in the US. In a country of about 330 million, that means .24% of our Fellow Americans have died. So far. But I want to focus on not on our dead, but on our wounded and how they can be healed.

Those 800,000 deaths came from about 50,900,000 Covid cases, meaning over 50,000,000 survived. So far. But those survivors aren't unscathed; about 250,000 required hospitalization during their illness and a significant (but unknown) number will be Covid Long Haulers who will require care for the rest of their lives. These are direct casualties of the disease but their wounds will be compounded by a shattered medical and political system.

Each Covid case is a spin of the wheel where the question is not IF the spinner will lose, but how badly. Death is just the (arguably) worst outcome. In 2020 8.6 percent of Americans, about 28 million of us, didn't have health insurance. That means 8.6% of those 250,000 hospitalized will be paying for their care out of pocket, and with very, very few exceptions, they'll be financially crushed. It's not much better for those with insurance. In a world where we're expected to be rational actors making life-and-death decisions on a price basis, there's no way to know what the price will be. The for-profit Insurance Companies and for-profit Hospitals set unpublished prices, negotiate between themselves out-of-sight, and send us a bill for whatever they settle on. The options are pay, go bankrupt, or die.

Covid means tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands of lives shattered, but of course, Covid is just the most visible mask on the same spectre. Cancer, Alzheimer's, Diabetes, Heart Disease, and more... the ghost of Medical Bankruptcy has haunted us all for decades. 62% of all bankruptcies in the US alone are for medical reasons, and worldwide there's... well... there aren't any. "As it turns out, medical bankruptcy is almost unheard of outside of the United States. Other developed economies (except China) have single-payer health care systems where medical costs are financed by taxes, not by premium-financed insurance. In these countries, there are no out-of-pocket costs for medical care and thus no bankruptcy caused by medical debts."

You might expect that if every other industrialized country on the planet has been able to figure out Universal Health Care, and the fact that we haven't places us with countries like Iran and Syria, there might be a reason. Maybe our way is better and we might be getting something more for our money. Nope. We pay more per capita for healthcare than any other country; roughly a third more than our nearest competitor (Switzerland) and roughly ten times as much as the lowest spender (Mexico), yet we consistently rank near the bottom on access to health care, equity and outcomes among high-income countries.

No, it's not that high quality demands high prices, it's pure greed by the for-profit Insurance providers who add no value to the system but stand as barriers between you and your health. Single payer is politically popular with over 60% supporting it in most polls. One might think the struggling Democrats, or the few sane Republicans trying to rebuild their party might ride this issue to popularity, yet they don't. Why? The Healthcare industry is the biggest source of lobbying money, spending over \$500M this year and almost \$5 BILLION over the last 23 years. "Follow the money", indeed.

Under our current system the literal Life, Liberty, and Pursuit of Happiness of every American depends on the fiat of corrupt lobbyists and politicians, and an American public too propagandized to see it or too demoralized to fight back. The same people who scream 'freedom' from their unvaccinated, unmasked throats scream 'socialism' just as loudly when someone proposes a single payer system. The same people who decry 'death panels' fail to see profit-driven executives using 'pre-existing conditions' as just that.

A worldwide pandemic is no one's 'fault'. Some people will die while others will be affected for life, and just like more conventional natural disasters, those shattered lives can be laid at Nature's doorstep. But the lives ruined financially are on us, our society, and the greed of insurance companies or the cowardice of politicians because we have the power to prevent them... if we choose to use it. Single Payer!

Make a great day,

Our favorites in eighteen categories!

Traveling through the darkest corners of the InterTubes, our staff often encounters rare and exotic memes, but they end up in a vault of interesting things no one will ever see. (You probably have a similar vault on your own computer!) We opened that vault recently and though the individual memes might not be interesting, we thought they really added up to something unique. So, we invite you to look through 348 memes broken up into 18 categories from Wordplay through Corruption.

We've given you three from each category to get you going, but click on a link for many, many more. Hope you find something to make you think, and something worthwhile to share with your friends! And don't miss our extra special selection of Christmas memes!

VOTE for one of these groups to receive our $1000 Yearly Award

Like every other small business, we depend on word of mouth for our business to thrive. Nothing means more to us than one of our clients who thinks enough of our service to recommend us to their friends and family, and we try our best to say 'thank you' through our Referral Reward Program. When a new client says you referred them we call you and make a donation to whatever non-profit group you choose. But the Program doesn't stop there... one of those groups will receive our $1000 Yearly Award! Which one? Only you can tell, because OUR CLIENTS VOTE FOR THE WINNER!

(Scroll down for the Voting List)

These Groups Were Not Eligible For The Yearly Award

We want this award to matter to the group that receives it, and while $1000 is a lot to a small group it can get lost in the budgets of the bigger groups. Though we gladly give to groups of any size in our Individual Rewards, we take the larger groups out of the running for this Yearly Award. These were the larger groups we gave to in 2021...

PETA
Oregon Food Bank
Cancer Society of America

Planned Parenthood of Col/Wil
Red Cross Portland
Oregon Humane Society

Referral Reward Program details

For each new client you refer to us we'll donate 20% (up to $50) of the qualifying purchases from their first invoice to the non-profit group of your choice.

We'll be thankful for everyone you send us, but oil changes, tires, and batteries won't count toward their qualifying purchases.

At the end of the year our clients vote on a Yearly Winner from all the groups we donated to through the year. We make an additional donation of $1,000.00 to that cause.

The person you refer must have a 15-years-old-or-newer vehicle of a type we service. Sorry, but our 15-years-old-or-newer policy still has to apply, and we can't help with their Lamborghinis or semi-trucks. (We should remind you that the "15-years-old-or-newer" restriction applies ONLY TO NEW CLIENTS. If you're an existing client and we've been servicing YOUR older vehicle, we'll gladly continue to do so!)

Referrals don't have to come singly; you can coordinate your group to come in as a whole. In fact, we have a sample letter you might want to use to tell them about the program.

You can pick any group or organization, preferably with a 501c3 designation, but that's not required. They can be political, social justice, environmental, recreational, religious, educational, or any other purpose YOU care about.

We prefer (but don't require) donations to smaller groups. Big groups like the Red Cross, Mercy Corps, or Oregon Food Bank do amazing work. Many of our clients choose these groups and we gladly give to them, but our donations aren't huge (max $50) and may get lost in the noise of their bigger donations. Smaller, usually local, groups don't have the operating budgets or ability to go fund hunting, and $50 to these groups can be a huge boost.

Are there groups you WON'T donate to?

We reserve the right to say 'no' to any group for any reason, but we've only rarely had to do it. Our Referral Reward program is designed to thank YOU, so we do our best to donate to any group YOU care about. If for ANY reason we decide not to accept them we'll have you pick another; in the UNIMAGINABLE situation that we couldn't find ANY group you wanted to give to then we'd turn your Referral Reward into an in-shop credit for future services. Like we said though, our goal is to give to the people YOU think need it most.

We won't donate to a group that won't ACCEPT our donation. For example, several clients wanted us to donate to Bernie Sanders but the Bernie campaign isn't allowed to accept corporate donations (and Tom Dwyer Automotive is a corporation). We found a 'support Bernie' group instead, BerniePDX, which worked out even better... one client is now an active member of the group!

We won't donate to a group if we CAN'T FIND them. One client wanted to donate to a small relief group in Nigeria (which sounds like a scam, but turned out not to be). After several attempts over about two months we finally gave up and donated to Mercy Corps instead. International donations can be tricky; we'll try if you want but we'll recommend a US-based (or at least large and well-known international) charity instead.

No one's ever asked and we don't expect our clients ever would, but we won't donate to hate groups. No KKK, Proud Boys, Nazis, or suchlike. If you want to pick one of these groups then you can go pound sand. We'll give you a coupon for an oil change at a Quick Lube (because we're still grateful for your referral) but you'll never hear from us again.

Why haven't I gotten a Referral Reward? I've referred lots of people!

First, we'd like to apologize... your word-of-mouth keeps our doors open, and we would love to be able to thank EACH person individually! Unfortunately, we don't always know who's doing the Referring. The only way we know how a new client found out about us is to ask them on their first visit, and we use their answer as their Referral source. Even if you sent someone to us they may not give your name as the Referrer. While they may have first heard about us through you, they may have later checked us out on Yelp or finally decided to come in just because we were convenient. When we ask, they may tell us "Web search" or "convenient location" instead of your name, and then we don't know there's a Reward to issue. We can't guarantee all your Referrals will give your name as a source, but if you want the charity you care about to get your Reward then it's up to you. Make sure your friend knows to "tell 'em I sent you!"

The Funny Page

These are the jokes, folks! Now all in one place.

If you never read our monthly Humorousness column, you see the problem... no one else ever read it either. That's a shame, too, because there was some pretty funny stuff on it. Once in a while. Well, once. But Tom's sole directive is to "make this newsletter worth your time", and if you weren't reading the Humorousness column our writing staff wasn't doing their jobs. We used Coronavirus as an excuse to fire them all and we brought in a whole new crew of edgy Millennials who'd work for just a sliver of the bloated salary we gave our past writers. We're pretty pleased with what the new, more motivated staff has come up with, and we think you'll like it too...

Shop Talk

Rides during your service

Construction is coming again... and again

Last month we told you about construction coming to both sides of Tacoma, and this month there's more. One lot in from Tacoma on the East side of Tenino, a small house will be replaced by a four story live-work complex, and the ground will be breaking early in 2022. Email land-use-chair@sellwood.org or go to Sellwood.org for more information. We'll keep you posted throughout the project here in our Shop Talk column, and other venues as needed. Buckle up, it's gonna be a long and bumpy ride!

Comment of the Month

This month we're passing on a compliment from Roxanne G...

"Your Advisor checked TriMet to give me options for taking the bus home. Better route than the one I found earlier!"

Covid closed our Waiting Room and Courtesy Shuttle, but we still want to help you make your vehicle service as convenient as possible. We've been working with Lyft for individualized rides, but mass transit is just one of the other possibilities. If this is an important issue to you, then please talk with your Service Advisor when you schedule your service... they're here to help!

We always have ongoing offers you might find valuable...

Carbon Neutral Program- Our company's commitment to the environment led us to partner with [Bonneville Environmental Foundation](http://Bonneville Environmental Foundation) to create our Carbon Neutral Program in 2007. Client members offset the carbon production of their vehicles for one year AND save 10% on Labor Charges here at the shop! It's a win for you AND our environment and it's been very successful... since we instituted the program our members have prevented over 1.9 MILLION POUNDS of carbon from being dumped into our air!

Referral Reward Program- Year after year, referrals from our existing clients are our greatest source of new clients, so we've tried hard to think of some way to appropriately reward people for their referrals. Our solution is our Referral Reward Program, where we make donations to the non-profit group of your choice to say 'thanks' for your generous referrals. Here's how it works...

Your reviews and referrals matter

We are constantly grateful for the supportive and loyal clients we have developed over the years. Your comments and appreciation keep us on the right road to providing the superior automotive service you deserve. Your reviews and referrals are not only the highest compliments we can receive, but they're the lifeblood of our new business. If you like what you've found at Tom Dwyer Automotive Services, please tell a friend or take a minute to write a review on Yelp, Angieslist, Google, or the review site of your choice. Thank you!

Latest Automotive Recalls

Automobiles are just like any other product; occasional flaws in manufacture or design can cause problems once they leave the factory. When an issue is identified the manufacturers and government work hard to bring the vehicles back in for refit or repair, but not all recalls make the front pages. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration maintains a constantly updated list of recalls from every manufacturer. The last month's recalls are below, but clicking the button at right will take you to the full list at the NHTSA website.

This month Kyle racked his brain trying to remember something that he ALWAYS had around the holidays. His mom came to the rescue with the recipe for his late grandfather's favorite appetizer, lovingly called "salmon balls". It's a smoked salmon dip formed into a large bowl to make it round, and Papa made it every single year without fail until he passed. It still brings him warm memories, and you can bet salmon balls will be on Kyle's table this year. We hope it brings warmth to your Holiday table as well.

Salmon Balls

Ingredients:

1- 16oz can salmon (drained and skin removed)
1- 8 oz cream cheese softened
1- teaspoon of lemon juice

1- teaspoon of salt
2- teaspoons of grated onion
1- teaspoon of horseradish
1- teaspoon liquid smoke

Ingredients:

- Line a bowl with plastic wrap, enough to fold over the excess to pat down salmon mixture
- Mix all ingredients well and form into bowl lined with plastic wrap. Fold wrap over and push down to form a ball.
- Chill for a minimum of 1 hour to set. Remove from bowl, set flat side down on serving plate and pull wrap off slowly.
- Serve with crackers or veggies or both.

Health Notes

Clear vision, now in an eyedrop

Presbyopia is a natural and annoying result of age and hardening of the cornea. In the past, your options for clear sight were ‘reader’ glasses, contact lenses, or surgery, but a new option is here. Miotic eye drops work by constricting the pupil to create a pinhole effect that increases the patient’s depth of field, improving near vision. These new drops are described as fast-acting with long-lasting results, no decrease in distance vision, and very safe. Allergan’s Vuity is the first to hit the market, but more are on the way. If magic vision drops seem interesting to you, here’s some information to get you started. (You may need to pull out those cheater glasses to read it!)

“The Open Society and Its Enemies” by Karl Popper

“The Open Society and Its Enemies”

by Karl Popper

(from the publisher)

One of the most important books of the twentieth century, The Open Society and Its Enemies is an uncompromising defense of liberal democracy and a powerful attack on the intellectual origins of totalitarianism. An immediate sensation when it was first published, Karl Popper’s monumental achievement has attained legendary status on both the Left and Right. Tracing the roots of an authoritarian tradition represented by Plato, Marx, and Hegel, Popper argues that the spirit of free, critical inquiry that governs scientific investigation should also apply to politics. In a new foreword, George Soros, who was a student of Popper, describes the “revelation” of first reading the book and how it helped inspire his philanthropic Open Society Foundations.

(from Amazon.com)

Written in political exile during the Second World War and first published in 1945, Karl Popper's The Open Society and Its Enemies is one of the most influential books of the twentieth century. Hailed by Bertrand Russell as a 'vigorous and profound defense of democracy', its now legendary attack on the philosophies of Plato, Hegel and Marx exposed the dangers inherent in centrally planned political systems. Popper's highly accessible style, his erudite and lucid explanations of the thought of great philosophers and the recent resurgence of totalitarian regimes around the world are just three of the reasons for the enduring popularity of The Open Society and Its Enemies, and for why it demands to be read both today and in years to come. This is the first of two volumes of The Open Society and Its Enemies.

Synthetic Life, Amino Acids from Space, and an Actual Warp Bubble!

"My ignorance is just as good as your knowledge." Do you believe that? We don't.

Basic science, even basic consensual reality, seems under attack these days. Science and education are increasingly something for the 'elite'; something to be distrusted by honest folk. Scientists aren't trusted on public health, environmental science, or even cosmology, not because they've been proven wrong but because they've been proven so ruthlessly right. Objective reality is inconvenient for those who would like their whims to create reality instead. RestOfNewsletter But society has always and only existed in the real world and modern society isn't possible without science. Pretending otherwise can, and will, get us all killed.

The way to promote understanding and appreciation of science isn't to tell people they should care... it's to show them why it's so exciting. From the unimaginable expanse of the multiverse to the tiniest living beings and the quarks and leptons they're made of, science is an adventure. The "Department of Reality Studies" may do little to affect the appreciation of science for many people one way or another, but we'll enjoy sharing our own excitement with you so we hope you'll check back frequently to see some glimpses of Reality that may not have made your radar. Let's go!

Scientists Create Synthetic Organisms That Can Reproduce, MJ Banias in Futurist, Nov 2021

"Scientists have created synthetic organisms that can self-replicate. Known as "Xenobots," these tiny millimeter-wide biological machines now have the ability to reproduce — a striking leap forward in synthetic biology. Published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, a joint team from the University of Vermont, Tufts University, and Harvard University used Xenopus laevis frog embryonic cells to construct the Xenobots. Their original work began in 2020 when the Xenobots were first "built." The team designed an algorithm that assembled countless cells together to construct various biological machines, eventually settling on embryonic skin cells from frogs..."

DARPA and NASA Scientists Accidentally Create Warp Bubble for Interstellar Travel, Lauren Coontz on CoffeeOrDie, Dec 2021

"A Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency-funded research project at NASA's Johnson Space Center may have accidentally discovered how to build a warp drive engine. The scientists published their findings in July. Harold "Sonny" White, a NASA researcher at the Eagleworks Laboratory in Houston, Texas, published a research paper with his team in July about the "possible structure of the energy density present in a Casimir cavity." According to the report, the Eagleworks team came across "a micro/nano-scale structure ... that predicts negative energy density distribution that closely matches requirements for the Alcubierre metric." In other words, White and his colleagues accidentally created a microscopic experiment while researching how energy distributes around wavelengths — a theory developed by Dutch physicist Hendrik Casimir. The experiment resulted in enough theoretical energy to achieve "warp speed," a concept theorized by Mexican mathematician and physicist Miguel Alcubierre..."

50 Years Ago, Scientists Caught Their First Glimpse Of Amino Acids From Outer Space, Maria Temming on ScienceNews, Dec 2020

"Amino acids in a meteorite — from Science News, December 5, 1970
[Researchers] present evidence for the presence of amino acids of possible extraterrestrial origin in a meteorite that fell near Murchison, Victoria, Australia, Sept. 28, 1969.... If over the course of time their finding becomes accepted ... it would demonstrate that amino acids, the basic building blocks of proteins, can be and have been formed outside the Earth. Update- Scientists confirmed in 1971 that the Murchison meteorite contained amino acids, primarily glycine, and that those organic compounds likely came from outer space (SN: 3/20/71, p. 195). In the decades since, amino acids and other chemical precursors to life have been uncovered in other fallen space rocks. Recent discoveries include compounds called nucleobases and sugars that are key components of DNA and RNA. The amino acid glycine even has been spotted in outer space in the atmosphere of comet 67P/Churyumov-Gerasimenko. Such findings bolster the idea that life could exist elsewhere in the universe..."

Lauren Boebert or Saturday Night Live... YOU Decide!

A 'controversy' is currently swirling about whether Saturday Night Live's December treatment of Marjorie Taylor Greene and Lauren Boebert was unfair, but Jimmy Kimmel already answered the question in November. He showed several 'people on the street' samples of Lauren Boebert saying embarrassing things, and asked if SNL went too far. There was some waffling, but most thought it was a pretty low-rent imitation of an actual Congressional Representative. GOTCHA! They were actual cuts of actual Lauren Boebert from her actual site. What do you think, is this a low-rent imitation of an actual Congressional Representative? Hmmmm....

Comedy Wildlife Photography Winners

(from NPR)- "The Comedy Wildlife Photography Awards have been unearthing hilarious and heartwarming photos of creatures basically being their best selves since 2015. And this year is no exception. The recently announced winners and finalists of the 2021 competition include a visibly uncomfortable monkey, a trio of gossipy raccoons, a joyful bird reunion, gravity-defying fish and an all-powerful prairie dog. A panel of judges sorts through thousands of submissions from expert and novice photographers alike and determines one winner for each of the several categories — except for the people's choice award, which is left up to members of the public..."

Changes Are Coming To OMSI's Neighborhood

(from Willamette Week)- "The OMSI District on the east bank of the Willamette River is now over a decade old, and still mostly theoretical. On Wednesday, the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry shared updated renderings of its plans, showcasing swanky glass apartment buildings, lively storefronts and communal green spaces covering 10 blocks of the inner eastside. The project launched in 2008 and has received money from the city, Metro and the state to create a neighborhood district with a focus on climate and science. The plans include: 1,200 housing units, a waterfront education park focusing on Indigenous heritage, mixed-use commercial and residential buildings, and new storefronts..."

What Happens After They Empty Your Big Green Bin?

(from Willamette Week)- "Jones latches the metal bar on the front of the bin to his truck. He flips a lever. A hydraulic lift called a "stinger" elevates the bin, then dumps it. The cart vomits yard debris and food waste into the truck. Moldy bread, rotten bananas, greenish-tinted hot dogs and carrots swim in a bilious sludge. Inhaling the essence makes me feel like I'm spinning around in the bottom of a garbage disposal. "Pretty nasty, huh?" Jones says with a grin. A belch of diesel exhaust as Jones pulls away from the curb provides relief from the sickly sweet smell of decay. Jones' employer, Cloudburst, is one of 19 companies that have contracts to collect Portlanders' waste, recyclables and debris..."
